Re: Chasnoff v. Board of Police Commissioners, et al.

Dear Mr. Rothert:

Enclosed please find a copy of the "criminal investigative file" compiled in the 2006 World Series tickets investigation. By our count, the copy comprises 769 pages and consists of the following:

1. An "investigation packet" for each instance in which tickets were confiscated, which includes a "fact sheet" prepared by Internal Affairs; the original police report of the arrest leading to the confiscation, including a photocopy of the "evidence bag" and photocopies of the tickets themselves; in at least some of the packets, additional investigatory documents generated as part of the arrest; and a follow-up internal audit review of the police report by the Department's Audit Advisory Unit;
2. Interview sheets and supporting documentation concerning individuals (complainants) submitting to interviews, prepared by Internal Affairs;
3. Cell phone records of police officers collected by Internal Affairs pursuant to subpoena, as well as copies of the subpoenas and transmittal documents to the cell phone providers.

The following redactions to the records have been made pursuant to our agreement and/or pursuant to Ch. 610, RSMo.: All social security numbers and days and months of birth; all names, phone numbers and addresses of individuals, other than suspects, generated in connection with the investigation of the arrest that is the subject of the police report; all REJIS criminal histories run on the suspects; and all phone numbers and street addresses of police officers. In a select few of the reports, you will notice a redaction under the "charge" description; this is because the individual, in addition to the ticket-scalping charge, was arrested for a companion charge, but there is no record on Case.net showing conviction on that charge, which would make information on that charge a closed record under § 610.105, RSMo.

If you have any questions regarding the documents, please don't hesitate to contact me.

Very truly yours,

Mark Lawson
Secretary & General Counsel
